Are you weary of first dates?

Are you looking for more honesty in relationships?

Do you want a relationship that works for you?

Meetings without masks is the answer

We invite you to try out different ways of relating to each other as men and women. Coach and Relationship expert, Jan Day, created this great one day workshop so that you can explore what you want in that special relationship in a structured environment. There will be fun, heart-centred exercises to help you open up and enjoy the day fully, build your confidence in relating and give you a taste of authentic relationships. Go on, take a risk.

"I had a tremendously enjoyable day and learnt a lot about what I want out of relationships. The day was challenging at times but always interesting, open-hearted, and compelling."

Tania Ahsan, Editor Kindred Spirit
